

HESPERIS is a unique course on organ transplantation, providing an innovative and comprehensive educational platform for individuals entering the field and wishing to take the next step in their learning journey.

Using a multidisciplinary approach, HESPERIS offers a 360° learning experience, covering five key areas of organ transplantation

Adopting a flipped classroom approach, participants are introduced to a dynamic way of learning and can take advantage of the pre-and post-lecture activities whilst working with leading experts in the field of organ transplantation

Combining a variety of online learning activities and live sessions, HESPERIS enables participants to learn according to their schedule, making room for in-depth discussion, exchange and networking

HESPERIS participants have the opportunity to work with an expert tutor from our prestigious scientific faculty. Tutors and learners are paired on the basis of shared areas of specialization and interest
