General information

About ESOT

The European Society for Organ Transplantation (ESOT) is a scientific society involved in all aspects of transplantation across Europe. It is the umbrella organization under which European transplant activities are organized, and it cooperates with many transplant organizations to structure and streamline these activities in Europe and across the world.

ESOT represents an exceptional opportunity for the transplantation community to share and debate opinions and to develop a European identity in the scientific, therapeutic, and ethical domains. Several Organ Expert Sections within ESOT represent expert knowledge on the respective organs and areas of expertise. At the heart of ESOT is a focus on education and training.

About ELITA

The European Liver and Intestine Transplant Association (ELITA), previously known as the European Liver Transplant Association (ELTA), is a section of ESOT. Its membership represents the expertise on liver and intestinal transplantation in Europe.

To provide a forum for those working in the field of liver and intestinal transplantation to exchange scientific information and views related primarily to providing the best service for patients in Europe requiring liver transplantation. Thus science, training, organ sharing and distribution, co-operative research projects, especially of clinical nature and the European Liver Transplant Registry would be of concern.

The relationship with national and European government agencies and with the organ exchange organisations would also be the business of the ELITA, which would be the official representative body of liver and intestinal transplantation in Europe.

About this event

Event's description

ELITA 30th Anniversary:

The purpose of this event is to provide a greater understanding of the accomplishments of ELITA in the field of liver transplantation as well as the many benefits it offers to the community of liver transplant recipients. An anniversary panel will highlight the achievements of ELITA, with past and current Chairs, societies that have collaborated with ELITA over the years, and ELITA affiliates who will be invited to share their thoughts on ELITA's past, present, and future. The scientific programme will include presentations on the evolution of liver transplantation in Europe

Monothematic Conference:

The purpose of the Monothematic Conference is to provide up-to-date scientific evidence on the role of liver transplantation in patients with acute-on-chronic liver failure (ACLF) or in active drinkers who are in urgent need of a liver transplant. More specifically, the two morning sessions will be dedicated to the diagnosis of ACLF and to the crucial issue of access to liver transplantation for patients with severe ACLF across Europe. The afternoon sessions will be focused on the current treatment of alcoholic hepatitis and the place of liver transplantation in active drinkers. For both topics there will be round table discussion based on clinical cases

Consensus Meeting:

Given the rise of recent studies and initiatives dealing with machine perfusion for the assessment of livers for transplantation and considerable variability regarding what is considered a directly transplantable vs. discarded or declined liver allograft, now is an important moment to create a set of expert consensus guidelines to help orient professionals working in the field. This Consensus Meeting aims to unite liver transplant professionals with important expertise in marginal or extended-criteria donors and advanced organ preservation strategies, in order to offer clear and concise guidance regarding graft selection, perfusion strategies, and criteria for liver viability assessment.
