

NEW ONLINE WORKSHOP SERIES: INDUCTION THERAPY IN KIDNEY TRANSPLANTATION

#2 WORKSHOP'S TITLE: Decision making when transplanting highly sensitised patients

DATE & TIME: 26 March 2024, 17:00 – 18:30 CET

Rationale and description

This series of online workshops aims to share and discuss best practices in induction therapy in kidney transplantation. Top centres in three countries – Italy, United Kingdom, and France – will host these engaging, interactive workshops that will provide participants with advanced knowledge on the topic as well as practical advice through the discussion of clinical cases.

The second workshop in this series, “Decision making when transplanting highly sensitised patients”, will be hosted by the University Hospital of Wales, Cardiff, United Kingdom.

Moderators

Raj Thuraisingham | London, United Kingdom
Luca Toti | Rome, Italy

Panellists

Argiris Asderakis
Siân Griffin
Felicity May

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAMME

17:00 – 17:05	Welcome and introduction to the workshop	Raj Thuraisingham Luca Toti
17:05 – 17:35	Case study presentation: ‘We can do it! Shall we?’ + Q&A	Argiris Asderakis
17:35 – 17:50	In depth review: Immunological risk stratification of highly sensitised patients	Felicity May
17:50 – 18:20	Case study presentation: Innovative approaches + Q&A	Siân Griffin
18:20 – 18:30	Closing remarks	Raj Thuraisingham Luca Toti

This workshop is kindly supported by